	COLOR	BITTERNESS	TASTING NOTES		ALCOHOL
1	1.039 OG  3.4 SRM	1.15 BU:GU  45 IBU	Spring Cleaning Lite American Lager Drink cold. Drink fast. Not for savoring. This one is made to drink. Highly carbonated, very light-bodied, nearly flavorless lager designed to be consumed very cold. Very refreshing and thirst quenching. Flavor Profile: Relatively neutral palate with a crisp and dry finish and a low to very low grainy or corn-like flavor that might be perceived as sweetness due to the low bitterness. Hop flavor ranges from none to low levels, and can have a floral, spicy, or herbal quality. This one is slightly dusty/musty. Ingredients: Two- or six-row barley with high percentage (up to 40%) of rice or corn as adjuncts. Additional enzymes can further lighten the body and lower carbohydrates.		126 kCal  4.5% ABV
2	1.066 OG  9.8 SRM	1.50 BU:GU  99 IBU	Double Blitzkrieg Imperial IPA This is a quaffable DIPa. Drink the first one fast. Slow down on pint #2 or you are going to have a short night, and a rough morning. You should pick up toffee with biscuits and a little raisin. ...		219 kCal  7.7% ABV
3	1.063 OG  4.3 SRM	0.30 BU:GU  19 IBU	Jenny's E Cream Ale Quintessential cream ale. This is your dad's easy drinking American beer, but an ale. Just like any good dad, a little sweet, a little more interesting than most and definitely more corny.		210 kCal  6.9% ABV
4	1.089 OG  10.9 SRM	0.61 BU:GU  54 IBU	GIPA II American IPA 80% of beer drinkers preferred this to Ballast Point's Grapefruit Sculpin in a super scientific blind taste test.		308 kCal  9.4% ABV
5	1.062 OG  4.3 SRM	0.31 BU:GU  19 IBU	Cascading Imperial Pilsner Classic American Pilsner Think "American Pilsner", but better....and stronger...and floral. Okay, it's not like an American Pilsner at all.		206 kCal  6.9% ABV
6	1.084 OG  50.0 SRM	2.29 BU:GU  192 IBU	Vader's Imperial March IPA Imperial IPA It's as dark and bitter as Darth Vader's soul. Only blacker. And more bitter. And blacker. Yeah, I said it twice. It's that dark.		288 kCal  9.2% ABV
